Delightful Mexican Tours.

Mexico, with its grand natural scenery, its semi-tropical climate, its interesting history, and its strange civilization, is a most attractive region for tourists. The sights of that remarkable country can be seen to the best possible advantage in connection with the Raymond & Whitcomb Company's admirably arranged tours. Those enterprising tourist managers are forming a party to leave Boston January 29. The journey will be made in a train of vestibuled Pullman sleeping cars, with a dining car, and only a limited number of passengers will be taken. The travelers will stop at various places in the Southern states, and in Mexico visit a dozen or more of the principal cities, spending nearly a week in the City of Mexico, and making trips down into the Tropics over both the Tampico and the Vera Cruz lines. On the same day a party will also leave for the same grand round of Mexico, with a supplementary tour of California.

An illustrated Mexico circular giving a full description of the tour, will be sent to any address by Raymond & Whitcomb Company, 305 Washington street, Boston.

The quality of Charity.

There probably never was a man or woman who did not occasionally need the charity of those with whom they came in contact, and on hearing a story relating to the silliness or fickleness of some one it is surprising that they do not hope, for the honor of their race, that it is not true, or at least treat it with charitable silence, as they hope to be treated. There never was a great man who paid much attention to gossip; there never was a woman distinguished above her sisters for goodness who was not charitable.

You might as well amuse yourself by remarking the ugliness of people as to amuse yourself by remarking their faults and transgressions. We are all ugly enough, heaven knows, and we all have too many faults to warrant us in being surprised at faults in others.
